Thank you for your email.

Nothing has changed.

I received a letter from the PeterMac CEO.

I replied to that letter.

My correspondence has been intercepted by you and has not been forwarded to her.

Obviously, members of the public are not permitted to correspond with the CEO or you would have forwarded it on by now.

Communication appears to only be one way unfortunately. I am wondering if things would be different had I donated?

Whilst you tie me up with ongoing emails, I am being taken away from my valuable work which is directly cancer related.

I refuse to let you do this.

Attached for your convenience is my original email.

Please let me know by COB on the 28th September the CEO has received my email.

Thank you.

Kind regards,

Clive Stott

Dear Clive

I apologise if my email came across in any way insensitive or censoring. That was not my intent at all.

I assure you my only goal & intent is to do the right thing by you as an enquirer and recipient of our material, our donors, our organisation, and our goals. My interaction with you has been in writing, therefore if I've made a mistake or miscalculated I'm ready & willing to face the consequences or any disciplinary actions but I assure you I am not censoring you or our Chief Executive's information.

I've aspired to be as respectful to your enquiry as possible, and embedded in that respect is transparency and honesty. If it's come across as anything different, I sincerely apologise.

Since this has transferred from feedback to a complaint, I can pass it on to my manager who will be able to make a better judgement on passing on the feedback or not to the Chief Executive Officer and providing me with any correction/feedback regarding my approach to this enquiry if I've handled it incorrectly.

Please let me know if the above is satisfactory to you.

Dear Michael,

Sorry, not good enough.

I received personal information signed by Kate Torney and I am politely responding to her.

This is not a matter of, "If I get an opportunity to share the feedback with her, I will."
Make the opportunity. How long does it take you to forward my email and copy me into it?
Honestly, what's your problem? This appears to be total overreach.

I receive a lot of feedback too and I would be annoyed if I found out my personal emails had been censored.

Surely you don't want your CEO to learn of this censoring through other channels.

That could have a negative effect on the very cancer patients we all would like to help.

Up to you.

Please let me know by COB on the 28th September the CEO has received my email.

Thanks for your help.

Kind regards,

Clive S

Hi Clive

Thank you for your reply. I'll update the record as per your request.

I'll share your feedback with the relevant teams but it would be disingenuous of me to promise I'll pass it to our Chief Executive Officer. We get a high volume of feedback addressed to her and it would be impractical to pass on to her personally every feedback we get. If I get an opportunity to share the feedback with her, I will.

Dear Michael,

Thank you for your quick reply.

Yes please if you would remove me from your mailing list for the reasons outlined.

I addressed my email to PeterMac CEO, Kate Torney OAM. Can you please assure me she will receive it?

Thanks again.

Kind regards,

Clive S
